Did You Ever Stop to Think

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT some business men seem to live in a world by themselves, totally oblivious to the real business world.
THAT the world to them is an imaginary world, and they spend their time dreaming of business that some day will come to them.
THAT they are only living in an imaginary world and the customers they dream of are only creatures of their imagination.
THAT the only way that it will be possible for their dreams to come true is to stop dreaming and stop it now.
THAT they must wake up, quit resting on their oars.
THAT business worth while does not just happen.
THAT they must get busy in order to make it happen.
THAT they must pep up, steam up and with enthusiasm, energy and honest effort, help to make their city a growing city, a city with a future.
THAT WILL MAKE BETTER BUSINESS FOR THEM AND FOR THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON—The Filipines' hint, through the Department of Labor and communications at Manila, that they would like to join the League of Nations if they could, is taken in rather unexpected fashion in Washington, considering the general policy of the dominant political party of today.

"Oh, if the islands only could be unloaded onto the league?" That's the tone of a great deal of the comment heard from men high enough in administration councils to know how the government really feels.

The truth is, the Philippines are embarrassing President Coolidge seriously.

American business interests in the archipelago are considerable, but they are in the hands of a comparatively small group, which the president knows the vast majority of people in the United States have small inclination to give money and blood to protect.

So long as there seemed to be no prospect that such expenditures were going to be required, it was all very well for the Washington government to endorse the group's contention that America is morally bound to keep the flag flying over the islands.

Now, however, with the whole American people at home clamoring for economy, comes the Japanese threat, meaning huge naval expenditures for the islands' safety—and for nothing else.

The Philippines are America's weak spot.

They're a liability rather than an asset, but the United States couldn't afford to have them taken away from her forcibly, even if it would be a relief.

By grabbing them, Japan, at any time, could compel this country to go to war with her.

THE advantage would be all with Japan. America would have to keep her fleet on duty in Philippine waters.

There alone could the Japanese strike at her so that's where her fighting ships would have to be. So concentrated, they couldn't guard American merchant vessels elsewhere in the Pacific. American trade would be driven from the sea.

It might suffer even on the Atlantic. A Japanese raider or two could at least render it insecure.

But if it weren't for the Philippines? If the United States were not responsible for them.

Leaving them out of consideration, there's little Japan can do to this country.

A FEW airplanes, submarines and mines could adequately protect the Pacific coast and Hawaii, the enemy would be forced to fight at such long range.

The Japanese navy might make trouble for American merchant ships in the western Pacific, but at the same time the American navy would be making corresponding trouble for Japanese merchant ships in the eastern part of the same ocean.

It would be war, but a war in which the United States would be at no disadvantage, through possession of Hawaii as a base, much nearer to Japan than any base Japan could find for herself in the direction of the American coast.

THERE GOES ONE OF HIS NINE LIVES

George Ade Takes a Fall Out of "Jazzmania"

The Great God Pan—1924 Version

"JAZZ has brought epileptic convulsions within the reach of all," says George Ade in an article which he heads "Jazzmania," and which appears in the January issue of Cosmopolitan. This democratic aspect is about the only virtue which Mr. Ade attributes to that form of music which he dubs "the companion of bootleggers and the pet of excitable school girls."

"Jazz," he says, "came slinking out of the underworld, a d d now it is mounted itself into 'the fix' of the socially important and into our most perfumed food-palaces." It also has its place in perfectly respectable homes "where the children are starving and the radio is working great."

Mr. Ade laments that jazz has divided the tastes of millions and up lift clubs and irate opera subscribers, and he suggests that even though it constitutes 75 per cent of modern existence, we might pause and remember that we have other duties to perform even though obliged to get up in the daytime to perform them.

The trouble is that the reckless driver is actually mistaking his license for liberty to crack down on the pedestrian and knock him down.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon the principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

Statistics show that the fillet altimeter is doing well throughout the country, but the hospital records of those who drink his goods are not nearly so encouraging.

News Of The World As Seen By The Camera's Eye.

He's Just a Spectator!

Learning Table Manners

This baby is being raised on concrete. That is, he is being taught to eat by hand from the concrete floor of his home in the Memphis (Tenn.) Zoo. The infant is the fifth to bless the union of "Venus" and "Adonis." Venus is the big hippopotamus in the picture.

Car Drops In River

Eight persons were killed and seven injured when a combination cafe and observation car on a Soo Line train plunged into the Chippewa River from a trestle near Chippewa Falls, Minn.

Hand-Painted

Betty Johnson, 17-year-old art freshman at the University of Omaha, has started something. She's appearing in hand-painted goloshes. And now all the rest of the co-eds are doing it, too.

Studies Cancer

Dr. Francis Carter Wood, director of the Institute for Cancer Research at Columbia University, says more has been learned about cancer in the last 10 years than in the previous 4000 years, yet there is little hope of ever finding a cure, he says.

My Funniest Story

MARION DAVIES

IN the December Smart Set a number of noted screen stars tell the "funniest story I know." Among the tellers are Norma Talmadge, May McAvoy, Marie Hay, Dick Barthelmess, Buster Keaton, Thomas Meighan, Bebe Daniels, Hope Hamilton and Marion Davies.

Here is May McAvoy's favorite: "A teacher in a New York High School asked one of her pupils, an East Side boy, if he could give her the definition of a stoic and a cynic. 'Sure,' said the boy. 'A stoic is a bold what brings babies. A cynic is what you wash dishes in.'"

This is by Marion Davies: "The funniest thing I ever heard was a conversation between two girls in a motion picture theatre. 'Who is your favorite movie actress?' asked one of the girls. 'Jessie Lasky,' responded the other. 'She's so different in all her pictures.'"

This is by Dick Barthelmess: "A Follies girl (not May Hay) met another young chorus girl at an art sale. 'My dear,' said the chorus girl, 'you look like some medieval picture. If you belonged to the Renaissance.'"

"You don't look so darned well yourself," was the reply.

"Kid" McCoy

This is "Kid" McCoy's latest picture. He is seen here at the left in company with a detective. The jury in his trial for the murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors reported guilty of manslaughter.

Pick a Man, Not a Boy For Your Husband Says Noted Writer-Actress

VIRGINIA MacFADYEN (Inset) EDWIN BJORKMAN

DON'T risk the dizzy gamble of marriage with a young husband. Take the man twice your age, writes the popular young actress and writer, Virginia MacFadyen, in an article appearing in the December issue of Cosmopolitan.

"The difference between an old husband and a young husband," she says, "is the difference between a Miami corner lot and unreclaimed government land in—say—Nevada. On the one hand you know fairly well what you are getting, . . . on the other you acquire a property which may become almost anything, subject to development."

"Three years ago Miss MacFadyen married Edwin Bjorkman, a successful actor and writer, and more than thirty years her senior. They have lived happily since. Miss MacFadyen looks upon the precarious lives of girls who have married mere boys and thanks her lucky stars that she has a husband who can save her from the buffeting of chance, whose wisdom and discretion are a comfort, and whose advice is an asset."

X-Rays Germs

A moving picture of tuberculosis germs, working in human lungs, recently was shown to medical men in Kansas City by Dr. Lewis Cole, Cornell University professor of Roentgenology. The picture is made up of a series of X-rays.

Seeks Oil

It's against the law to drill an oil well on a little tract of ground like Mrs. F. J. Patterson's town lot at Worthham, Tex. But she's doing it. When big oil companies leased land all around the aged widow's tiny homestead, folk said they were trying to "squeeze her out." So Mrs. Patterson begged an "opportunity" to seek oil on her property too. She told the railroad commission of her 30-year struggle to give her only son proper medical attention. And the commission had a heart.

It shouldn't be long now until those who have always held that Methuselah was the world's oldest man will have Chauncey Depew thrown up to them.

NEWS FROM THREE STATES

KENTUCKY

BARBOURVILLE. — Arrangements to finance the work of keeping the 13-mile detour by Dishman Springs between Corbin and this city passable for automobiles all winter were made at a meeting held at the Seelbach hotel in Louisville recently.

Louisville men at the meeting promised to raise $2,500 immediately and send it to the state highway department at Frankfort, which has agreed to match this sum dollar for dollar to keep the detour passable.

Lexington and other towns on the route have agreed to match the $2,500 from Louisville with the same amount, which will in turn be matched by the highway department, providing a fund of $10,000 to keep a crew of men at work on the road throughout the winter whenever it needs attention.

The Lexington organization has sent $1,000 to Frankfort and will have the remainder of the amount ready soon, it was said. The Louisville men will send the greater part of their $2,500 to Frankfort at once, the meeting was assured.

Representatives of the Louisville Hotel Men's association; Louisville Automotive Dealers' association; Louisville Automobile club and Merchants and Manufacturers' association were at the meeting.

BARBOURVILLE. — Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Coker of Covington are spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dethorpe. Mrs. Coker before her marriage, was Miss Maude Dethorpe.

D. L. Davies, who has been in the Harlan coal fields for several months, has gone to Straight Creek, where he will take a position as mining foreman.

F. E. Nunavar, who is a member of the city high school faculty, will spend the Christmas holidays with his parents. Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Nunavar and sister, Miss Dorothy, in Lexington, Ky.

VIRGINIA

ROSE HILL. — Mrs. Wade Bailey formerly Miss Maude Dillman and her husband spent Xmas with Mr. and Mrs. Coleh Bales.

Mrs. Ostola Snowely from Washington is visiting her father and mother.

The McIn girls are on the sick list.

Misses Lizzie and Adella McIn made a business trip to Middlesboro Saturday.

W. C. Fulkerson is still on the sick list.

Leola Carter, Hogan, Va., and Hayward Nolan of Rose Hill have announced their marriage of some weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Fugate entertained for dinner Sunday the following, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fugate, Miss Pat Fugate, Virginia Fugate, Mrs. James Edds, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Shipley and Warren, Miss Condie Parrott, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McLemore and Trolly, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Howlett and Frank and Armon.

Miss Lizzie Strickleford from Kingsport is spending holidays at home.

Mr. McKenny from Appalachia, spent Sunday with Miss Anna MacHolds.

L. G. Gliss from Harrogate is greeting friends here today.

Mrs. J. W. McLemore and Billie have returned from Wise Va.

ABINGDON, Va. — Fire of undetermined origin early Sunday morning destroyed several buildings on Main street in Abingdon, Virginia, causing a loss of about $55,000. For a time it appeared that the entire business section of Abingdon would be wiped out and a hurried call was made for assistance from this city. One of the local companies responded with its motor equipment and eight men.

The fire was gotten under control, however, before the local firemen arrived there. The Spot Cash Grocery store, the Episcopal church the calistoga and art gallery was destroyed. One of the Abingdon firemen was slightly injured when struck on the head by a falling beam.

The fire had gained considerable headway before it was discovered and Abingdon firemen had difficulty in saving other buildings in that section.

USE WASHING SOAP TO MAKE MOONSHINE

FREELING, Va., Dec. 30. — Local officials, Squire Enoch Moore, J. S. Mullins, B. H. Moore, J. S. Colley and Butler Felmus, have been making extensive raids and moonshining stills within the last few weeks throughout this end of Dickson county, with splendid success, and as a result, there is today less evidence of whiskey and consequent drunkenness than for a long time.

These officers recently captured two large complete distilling plants on Pine Creek, near here, a large complete plant in the nearby edge of Wise county, a large one near Sheetrock, which would soon have been in operation.

At the plant near Norland, the officers state that in each barrel of beer was a large bar of old-fashioned washing soap used for the purpose of making the final output "head." Also, at this place they found a camping outfit and a large amount of provisions and cooking utensils, which would indicate that the operators were from a distance.

TENNESSEE

SHAWANEE NEWS. — Christmas passed off very quietly here.

The Union Christmas tree, was a success in every way, and the girls who did the work are to be commended by all.

Santa Claus sent the stock to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meadows on the morning of the 24th, with a nice baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Fulkerson, returned to their home in Louisville Saturday after spending Christmas here, with the parents of Mrs. Fulkerson, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Peyton.

Mr. J. H. Pearson of Tazewell was here Wednesday of last week, looking after his land recently purchased of the C. W. Scott heirs. He contemplates building a nice residence in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McWilliams spent Christmas with relatives at Appalachia, Va.

James Tyler of Morristown spent a part of the holidays here with his mother, Mrs. J. H. Hamilton.

George Greer of Middlesboro was the guest of his son Prince recently.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Scott and son Floyd motored to Knoxville Saturday.

M. M. Hamilton is on the sick list this week. With a attack of rheumatism.

N. A. Worley is able to be out again after being confined to his room, for several days, with a severe cold.

Rev. Fry filled his regular appointment here at the M. E. church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Hollingsworth and children, Marjorie and Ola Marie, returned last night from Pomeroy Ohio, where they spent Christmas with Mrs. Hollingsworth's family.

Mrs. Paul Nuckles of Pineville will arrive tomorrow to spend the rest of the week, a guest of Mrs. O. B. Hollingsworth on Elgewood Road.

The family of L. L. Hamilton of Exeter avenue leave today to join him in Orange City Florida, where he is engaged in the real estate business.

There were many "knowing" and "sly" nods among Sevier citizens last Sunday morning. Little groups gathered here and there and conversed in whispers. Then there would be glances toward General Crowder.

Finishing up his business in Newport last Saturday evening the General decided to go around by the Cosby section and down through Jones' Cove and load up his car with something to brighten up Christmas. Two deputy sheriffs were on the lookout for cars from that section and held up the General and searched his car. Paying no attention to his protests, they continued to search and were rewarded by finding two big bags filled with the red stuff that was very materially to anybody's Christmas cheer. The officers continued enough to fill their pockets, and allowed him to escape with the remainder since it was so near to Christmas.

No, you guessed wrong. It was big red apples he was transporting and the joke was on the officers.

If nobody shall be allowed to take the kingdom of heaven, let those of us who work what is to come of these efficiency experts.

So many people have expressed their faith in buying automobiles, radios and pay taxes that it is doubtful if the week ever can again afford to inherit the earth.

There were many "knowing" and "sly" nods among Sevier citizens last Sunday morning. Little groups gathered here and there and conversed in whispers. Then there would be glances toward General Crowder.

Finishing up his business in Newport last Saturday evening the General decided to go around by the Cosby section and down through Jones' Cove and load up his car with something to brighten up Christmas. Two deputy sheriffs were on the lookout for cars from that section and held up the General and searched his car. Paying no attention to his protests, they continued to search and were rewarded by finding two big bags filled with the red stuff that was very materially to anybody's Christmas cheer. The officers continued enough to fill their pockets, and allowed him to escape with the remainder since it was so near to Christmas.

No, you guessed wrong. It was big red apples he was transporting and the joke was on the officers.

If nobody shall be allowed to take the kingdom of heaven, let those of us who work what is to come of these efficiency experts.

So many people have expressed their faith in buying automobiles, radios and pay taxes that it is doubtful if the week ever can again afford to inherit the earth.

New Line Jacket

This Palm Beach suit shows a clever combination of plain and figured material and a new line in a jacket. It is essentially youthful in appearance and a little less severe in cut than those to which we have been accustomed this season.

Wall Street may well be described as the Grand Canyon of Manhattan Island, but where is Bright Angel Trail?—Los Angeles Times.

Flaming youth boasts that it is light on its feet, not knowing that this may mean lightness in the head.

Reader Says "News of Value"

The following letter received in this office recently is only one of the many sent us from satisfied readers. W. B. Cornett, the writer of the letter is a district manager for the Federal Life Insurance company.

Middlesboro Daily News, Middlesboro, Ky.

Gentlemen:— I have been reading every copy of your splendid paper for some time, which comes to my brother daily. Frankly, I had rather read your paper than some of our larger dailies. I have a number of clippings that I have been carrying with me from your paper, which have been helpful in my line of work. I was particularly interested in the article appearing in The News

SET YOUR TRAPS

Where the Rabbits run," was the old trapper's advise, and it was good advice, too. If you want to see your city grow and you prosper, don't expect this to "just happen." Building and Loan Associations are Savings institutions that keep every dollar of their depositors' money in Middlesboro to help people build houses and to make business for Middlesboro people. A Savings Account, "set" in a Building and Loan Association will produce returns in community growth and prosperity beyond your realization.
